NNSA Nevada Operations Office, Bechtel Nevada and Office for Domestic Preparedness

The Department of Energy, National Nuclear Security Administration (NNSA), undertakes activities to promote international nuclear safety and non-proliferation, reduce global danger from weapons of mass destruction, and support United States' leadership in science and technology. The NNSA Nevada Operations Office (NNSA/NV), in conjunction with its management/operations contractor, Bechtel Nevada, provide emergency response training and exercises to our Nation's emergency responders and Department of Defense special units.

On behalf of NNSA/NV, Bechtel Nevada manages the operations at the Nevada Test Site and its related facilities. These facilities are located at the Remote Sensing Laboratories at Nellis AFB, NV and Andrews AFB, MD; the Special Technologies Laboratory in Santa Barbara, CA; Livermore CA, and Los Alamos, NM. In addition, Bechtel Nevada partners with Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory, Los Alamos National Laboratory, and Sandia National Laboratories on many projects. Work efforts focus on nuclear stockpile safety, non-proliferation, anti-terrorism, advanced testing and experimentation, advanced technology development, and training and exercises in response to weapons of mass destruction events.

The Office for Domestic Preparedness (ODP) is the lead component for the development and delivery of weapons of mass destruction (WMD) terrorism response training to the nation's state and local public safety personnel. ODP enhances the capability of state and local jurisdictions to prepare for and respond to events of terrorism involving weapons of mass destruction, including Biological, Nuclear/Radiological, Incendiary, Chemical, and Explosive (BNICE) devices. ODP awards grants to state and local jurisdictions based upon needs and vulnerabilities assessments to allow the purchase of needed equipment and to provide training and technical assistance to state and local first responders. Under the ODP emergency response training initiative, training courses are developed and delivered through a variety of venues. This training is directed at a broad spectrum of emergency responders, including fire (HazMat), law enforcement, emergency medical, hazardous materials services (EMS), public health, emergency management, and public works agencies.
